

Quiz Questions

Module 5 | Lesson 5.1 – React

1. What is React?

- A: A JavaScript front-end library geared to building user interfaces.
- B: A JavaScript runtime environment that can be run on different platforms to help build server applications.
- C: A package manager for the publishing of open-source JavaScript projects.
- D: A scripting language that mimics and resembles the JavaScript language.

2. React provides an API with simple and intuitive methods to traverse and manipulate the DOM.

- A: True
- B: False

3. What is the term used to describe the syntax extension that allows us to write XML-like syntax in JavaScript?

- A: Virtual DOM
- B: ReactDOM.render( ) functions
- C: JSX
- D: Props

4. In React, which of the following best describes what state and props are?

- A: State is the smallest building block of React applications and props represent how events are handled in React.
- B: State is an object of input properties passed from a parent component while props is an object that controls how a component behaves.
- C: State and props both represent the data that determines how a component behaves.
- D: State is an object that determines how the component behaves while props are input properties that allow the passing of data from parent components to child components.

5. Function components cannot keep track of state.

- A: True
- B: False