Quiz Questions

Module 1 | Lesson 1.8 – Linting with ESLint

1. What is linting?

A: The process of analyzing code for potential errors.
B: A term used to represent how TypeScript checks for type errors during compile time.
C: The process of compiling TypeScript code to valid JavaScript.
D: The formatting of code performed with the help of code formatters.

2. The `.eslintrc.json` file is a configuration file used to dictate the ESLint configuration of a certain directory.

A: True
B: False