Quiz Questions | Answers

Module 4 | Lesson 4.1 – Introduction to MongoDB

1. Which of the following statements is correct?

A: NoSQL databases use a structured query language for manipulating and reading data.
B: MongoDB is both a SQL and NoSQL database.
C: SQL databases only allow for the insertion of data that has predefined schema.
D: Relational databases are more suited for applications that may have rapid changing data structures.

Answer: C - SQL databases only allow for the insertion of data that has predefined schema.

2. Which of the following are advantages to using a Database-as-a-service (DBaas) cloud platform?

A: Out of the box security.
B: Ease of higher scalability and availability when an app grows.
C: Maintenance and management of the database infrastructure is the responsibility of the service provider.
D: All the above.

Answer: D - All the above.